ON-CALL ADAPTED COACHING SERVICES (VIRTUAL)

In uncertain times, we often need an outside perspective to help us find clarity, filter our thoughts, and re-frame the situations in which we find ourselves. We may also need specific interventions to rapidly build skills, adapt traditional behaviors, and flex outside our comfort zone.

Resolute Consulting offers full Executive Coaching services and curriculum-based Group Coaching programs. We continue to believe these long-term and/or structured approaches are the best solutions for traditional coaching needs.

However, as a response to the coronavirus pandemic, the resultant disruption, and the career and economic uncertainty experienced by many professionals, we have developed a hybrid coaching/training service: on-call adapted coaching designed for virtual delivery.

These services are designed to support rapid change and acute challenges. Coaching under this model blends traditional prompting and reflective approaches with direct training and guidance. All coaching is confidential and information from your sessions will not be shared at any time during or after our work together.

Testimonials from prior coaching clients

“Joanna was a patient, organized, focused, funny, and helpful [coach] with an uncanny ability to summarize exercise results into just a few helpful, insightful sound bites.”

“[Joanna is an] intentional listener who is able to make connections and offer insightful and helpful information and recommendations. I felt like she was truly working to help me improve myself and move the needle to accelerate my career.”
