

Where will I work today?

3 questions to align your work and your location

Work performance is about more than task execution - few of us are making widgets on a production line. There are nuanced needs and careful choices to make.

Work satisfaction and success are highly individual - they depend on each of our needs, values, and drivers.

In today's hybrid work environment, we have choices to make. These questions will help.

1 Where do I need to be to best do this work? Why?

Company office

Home office

Other location

2 Where does my client need me to be to best do this work? Why?

3 Where does my team need me to be to best do this work? Why?

 Decision:

